The First Home Owners Boost Scheme is an Australian Government initiative to assist first home buyers purchase or build their first home. The scheme is administered by the South Australian Government and is in addition to the First Home Owner Grant of $7000 and the First Home Bonus Grant of up to $4000.

First Home Owners Boost Benefits

Established homes

First home buyers purchasing an established home may be eligible for the $7000 boost benefit in addition to the existing $7000 grant, bringing the benefits to $14 000. This added to the potential eligibility for the First Home Bonus Grant may bring the total benefits to $18 000.

New homes

First home buyers building a new home or purchasing a newly constructed home may be eligible for the $14 000 boost benefit in addition to the existing $7000 grant, bringing the benefits to $21 000. This added to the potential eligibility for the First Home Bonus Grant may bring the total benefits to $25 000.

Where a newly constructed home is being purchased, that purchase must represent the first sale of that home. The home must also have never been previously occupied as a place of residence, including occupation by the builder, a tenant or other occupant.

Substantially renovated homes may be considered as a new home. Where a substantially renovated home is being purchased, it must be the first sale of the home since it was substantially renovated. The home, since being substantially renovated, must also have never been previously occupied as a place of residence, including occupation by the builder, a tenant or other occupant.

Substantial renovations of a building are renovations where the entire building, or substantially all of the building, has been removed or replaced.

Note: Where the consideration is less than the total benefit available, the applicant will be entitled to an amount equal to the value of the consideration. Consideration is the purchase price or the value of the construction contract or the construction costs of the home but does not include owner builders own labour.
